

REACTIVE WORKFLOW SYSTEM AND METHOD

Abstract of the Disclosure

A system and method for determining the consequent step of a multi step procedure determines the identity of components usable in the procedure. Based on the 5 components introduced and the context of the procedure at the time the component is introduced determines a consequent step and moves to that determined consequent step.